Work Experience

In February, the 10th grade students (= les 3èmes) had a work experience to realise . This work experience lasted one week, from the 6th to the 10th (before winter holidays).

This work experience consisted in discovering a job in a company.

We can also have a work experience at the end of the school year when we are in the 9th grade.

We interviewed some pupils about their work experience :

Charlotte 3D :

-Where did you work ?

-I worked in a pharmacy .

-How have you found it ?

-I made a cover letter and then I went to the pharmacy and asked if they took interns for a work experience.

- Did you like your work experience ?

- Yes, I did ! It was very interesting. I have learnt many things !

Aurore 3C

-Where did you work ?

- I worked in a riding stable.

-How have you found it ?

-One of my parents friends advised me to go there. And then I sent an email.

- Did you like it ?

- Yes, I liked spending time with horses. But, it was tiring, and I wouldn't choose to work in a riding stable later.

Mika and Vianney reveal their new track in duet!

Vianney and Mika, two singers, offered us a new duet song. The title of the song is « Keep it simple ». The lyrics are in French and in English and there is both piano and guitar to meet their two universes.

In an Instagram post, Mika wrote: « One day in Paris, I was with my friend Vianney. Sitting in the sofa in his studio, we wrote « Keep it simple ». I hope you will love this song like me ».

Tremo organised its « minute basket »

On Friday, March 3rd, our school organised a special event, called "la Minute Basket". Students have to find sponsors and then they have to score baskets for one minute. It is a way to raise money to help organising school trips and outings.

It is a very cool moment, with music! We all had a lot of fun!!!

We thank our PE teachers who organised that event!

Classical Music

Hi ! Today, I'll present you Frederic François Chopin, a famous pianist.

He was born on the first March in 1810 in Poland with the name Fryderyk Franciszek Chopin. He died on the 17th of October in Paris in 1849. He was a piano virtuoso.

After his formation in the High School of Music in Warsaw (Varsovie), he went to Paris to start his career.

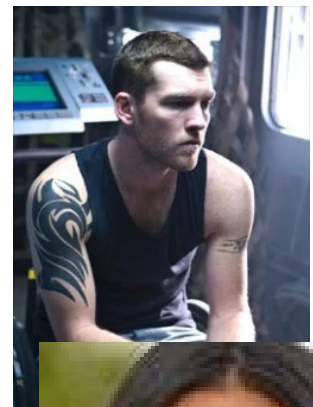

He was been recorded to be one of the most biggest composer in the romantic period. He's the father of the modern technical of his instrument, the piano. He influenced a whole line of composers such Claude Debussy, Gabriel Fauré, Alexandre Scriabine and more. The most famous songs he composed were Mazurkas, Préludes and Nocturnes.

I find his music quite complex but really beautiful. If you like classical music, you have to listen to these compositions !

Anastasia Romanova

Hi everyone! Today we're going to present you the story of Anastasia Romanova, the last descending of the imperial family of Russia.

Anastasia Nikolaïvena Romanova of Russia was born on 18th June 1901 in Peterofh and was murdered on 17th July 1918 in Lekaterinbourg. She was a grand duchess of Russia and the fourth daughter of the tsar Nicolas II of Russia and his wife, the empress Alexandra Fiodorovna.

Her full title was Her Imperial Highness Grand Duchess Anastasia Nikolaïvena.

During her childhood, she was very close to her sisters and her brother: Olga, Tatiana, Maria, and Alexis and she was a smiling and very active child.

Intelligent but not very interested in school, she has a sense of humor and likes to talk French. She spends her days listening to her phonograph, writing letters, watching movies, taking photographs, playing the balalaïka, and looking after her two dogs.

But, during the First World War and the Russian Revolution of 1917, the imperial family lost the support of the Russians and Tsar Nicolas II was forced to abdicate. They are then imprisoned.

The Romanovs died in the night of July 16 to 17 by bullets on order of Lenin.

But for a long time, a legend has existed, that of the secret survival of Anastasia.

The assassination of the imperial family was subject to multiple controversies. Thus, the historian Marina Grey to demonstrate the survival of a part of the imperial family, but unlike most people, does not believe in the popular theory that a certain Anna Anderson, who died in the United States in Charlottesville on February 12, 1984, under the name of Anastasia Manahan would be the real Anastasia, Grand Duchess of Russia.

However, she was recognized by many people as the daughter of the tsar by the daughter of the doctor of her family and two German first cousins. According to some facts, Anastasia would have survived the massacre thanks to the jewels and diamonds of her dress which would have made the bullets ricochet. During an interrogation, a soldier allegedly confessed that a body was missing before the burial and also claimed to have heard moaning during the journey. She would have survived shooting and beating of the soldiers in the house. The soldiers, after having hit her, would not have checked if she was dead.

The mystery of Anastasia's survival as well as the doubts of the people. Throughout the 20th century, other women have claimed to be the Grand Duchess Anastasia. But according to genetic tests, they all turned out to be liars.

In 1990, the bodies of the imperial family were found, exhumed, and identified by DNA analysis, but two bodies are missing: that of Alexis and that of Maria or Anastasia. On July 16, 1998, Nicolas II was buried with the members of his family (minus the two bodies not found).

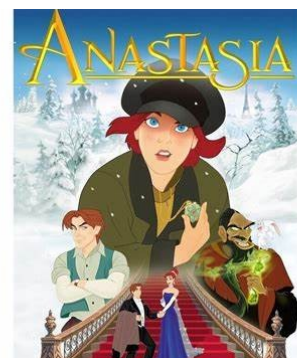

During excavations, in July 2007, on the probable place where the missing bodies would have been buried, bones were found. According to the first conclusions, it would be a boy aged thirteen fourteen years and a young woman aged nineteen or twenty years that is age of Alexis and Maria at the time of death. On April 30, 2008, analyses carried out by an American laboratory confirmed that the bones came from Alexis and his sister Maria. This was confirmed in 2019 by the US Armed Forces DNA Identification Laboratory in Rockville-Maryland.

On November 15, 2011, the anniversary of the birth of the Grand Duchess Olga Nikolaïvena, a 2,6 meters high monument was unveiled in the monastery Ganina Iama in Oural. A sculpture is also dedicated to Nicolas' children. It represents the five imperial children descending from heaven. A monument dedicated to the tsar and his wife had been inaugurated in the monastery some time before.

And you, do you think that the survival of Anastasia was only a legend or reality?

In the 90s, a movie about Anastasia was created. Released in 1997 in USA, the Fox Animation Studios cartoon Anastasia would trace the legend of her survival.
